

RENDEZ-FOOD

TOKYO

ABOUT US

Rendez-Food is a premium French catering company based in Tokyo, founded by chefs Fabian Grivet and Raphael Vinci.

We create bespoke culinary experiences for private clients and brands, from elegant buffets to fully tailored event concepts, each designed to reflect your vision, identity, and budget.

From intimate gatherings to corporate events and brand activations, we craft refined menus with a strong emphasis on quality, elegance, and meticulous attention to detail.

We value meaningful collaborations and take pride in working alongside inspiring brands to deliver memorable and distinctive food experiences.

PARTNERSHIP

Rendez-Food was founded by two French chefs, Fabian Grivet and Raphael Vinci, who moved to Tokyo five years ago.

We first met while working together at the first restaurant we joined in Tokyo, where our shared dedication to hospitality quickly brought us together.

After several years of experience in the city's culinary scene, the idea naturally emerged to create our own catering company.

Fabian Grivet, originally from Vendée in western France, previously worked in the catering industry. Raphael Vinci, originally from Saint-Tropez in the south of France, first trained as a pastry chef before moving into the kitchen, and has worked across Europe and Asia in several restaurants and hotels, including with renowned chef Pierre Gagnaire.

Together, we combine our backgrounds and experiences to create refined and thoughtful culinary experiences in Tokyo.
